Jul 14, Salord

Torralba d'en Salord

The first prehistoric site to become a park and charge an admission fee is Torralba d'en Salord three kilometers south of Alaior on the road to Son Bou.

To be fair to the authorities they have created a car park and coach park and erected arrows to guide visitors through this large site.

The site contains the remains of a complete prehistoric village with a taula, two talaiots and a Cyclopean Wall and reconstructed burial caves.

Jun 29, Cheap Holidays to Menorca

Last week my daily newspaper was telling me that 18m of my fellow countrymen could not afford to take a holiday this year.

A holiday in the sun is now considered essential rather than a luxury. If you are seeking a budget holiday you should consider Menorca. Prices start from 133 pp for 7 nights on the island.

I am sad to hear that Menorca.info is suspending its English pages for a while. It is sad that economic pressures have stretched this far.

If you have any news or information you can always email us and we will do what we can.

If there is enough interest we would consider a special page until Menorca.info can recommence its English pages, hopefully very soon!

Jun 2, Menorca's Coastline

Menorca is a small island with a very large coastline, in fact 177 miles (285 kilometres) of beautiful beaches and breathtaking views. The sea and the coastline has played an important part in Menorca's history from the Pirates who made the Island their base in the Mediteranean for a time to the numerous invaders who, over the centuries, used Menorca as a base.

May 14, Menorca's 3 Best Beach Secrets

Cala en Turqueta

A beautiful sandy cove. It is fairly secluded with few amenities such as the car park 5 minute walk from the beach. On route you should stop at the Talaia d'Artrux for breathtaking views out towards the neighbouring island of Majorca.

Cala Pregonda

To the west of Fornells on the North coast of Menorca in a protected area of natural beauty. The beach is about 20 minutes walk from Binimella. Cala Pregonda offers a delightful stretch of sand surrounded by unusual rocks and hills clothed in Tamarisk and Pine trees. The beach is undeveloped with no facilities. However this special beach is worth the effort of a visit if only for a refreshing swim.

Cala Mitjana

On the road south from Ferreries take a left just before you reach Cala Galdana. Follow the rough road down to a free car park. A 5 minute walk brings you to this little known cove with pine clad low white cliffs. Snorkeling and swimming conditions are excellent and Cala Mitjana is close by. These beautiful beaches are undeveloped so come prepared.

Travelmatch.co.uk has reported an increase in interest for the Balearics for this forthcoming holiday season. It goes on to say that the beaches on holidays to

Majorca and Ibiza offer just as much as sun and relaxation as Cancun, with nightlife to rival the infamous Mexican party spot.

Menorca cannot rival the nightlife of its sister isles but its beaches are spectacular and its waters rival the Caribbean for clarity and marine diversity.

Add to this its 5000 years of history and its Biosphere Reserve and you can begin to understand why Menorca is a unique Balearic Isle only just over two hours flight time from the UK.
